

THRONES RUSH TO SHARE FRENCH LOAN

Unprecedented Enthusiasm Is Shown Among All Classes as
"Victory Loan" Is Opened.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Finance rather overshadowed war as the center of interest at present. It is today that the subscription list of the great French war loan was opened. Financial circles are wrought up to an unprecedented degree of excitement, enthusiasm, and satisfaction over the outlook. That the operation will be a phenomenal success already is absolutely certain.

France is the sole power among the belligerents that has not yet issued a loan. Now that she has decided to issue one, it is to be on a grand scale and will make a powerful appeal not only to the French but to the matter of course, but also to all allied people and all neutrals.

The price of the loan is $5 at the rate of interest 5 per cent. The capital invested need not be paid at once in a lump sum, but may be paid in four monthly installments. Even thus the interest is 5.25 per cent.

Free of Taxation.
But, in addition, to those who pay the subscription at once, the interest works out at 5.75 per cent.

Moreover, the loan is free of taxation and is redeemable in January, 1921, when it will be refunded at par. This in fifteen years investors have to double their capital. These details fully explain the keen interest taken in the loan here and abroad.

But the overwhelming attraction here is the rock-bottom certainty of the loan on the basis of victory. Its official name is only "the French 5 per cent loan," but throughout the country it is known as the "victory loan" and throughout the country most intense enthusiasm is shown by every class, every individual co-operating to make the loan a triumphant success worthy of its popular name.

The first day's subscription to "the great loan of victory," as the new French loan has been called, was a greater number of investors than had been anticipated. The lines began forming at 9 o'clock at the special loan windows in all postoffices, at the banks and at the headquarters of the loan, at the Pavilion de l'Exposition, in the extreme southern wing of the Louvre.

All Classes Apply.
At the postoffices the subscribers crowded the corridors so that it was almost impossible to buy postage stamps. At the Credit Lyonnais and other banks the windows set apart for the receipt of applications had to be doubled, while at the Bank of France the crowd was so big that the police were obliged to use extra precautions.

Women mourning, servants in white aprons, children in blue and white boys and girls bringing their savings touched elbows with capitalists waiting to subscribe millions.

The first subscription was $40,000. This was followed by one for $100,000 and two for $200,000 each. The greatest sum subscribed by a single individual today was $10,000. The first subscription connected with the transaction were completed in six minutes, which constitutes a record for a French official subscription.

Commandments the Word
As Moses Is Challenged

LONDON (By Mail), Nov. 26.—A real incident of unappreciated humor came from northern France today via soldier letter. The Tommy said:

"There is a certain fellow up our way who was late in returning to his quarters and forgot the counterpane. The following conversation is between the Padre and a sentry, who had a sense of humor:

"'Halt! Who goes there?'
"'Ah—er—nothing, my Moser.'"
"'Advance Moser and deliver the Ten Commandments.'"
The Padre, the letter adds, failed to take it so humorously and the witty Tommy is now doing twenty-eight days' field duty as punishment.

Gives Details Concerning German Pension System

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—In reply to inquiries and to correct misapprehension about the relief extended by the German government to the relatives of soldiers killed in the war, the North German Gazette of November 6 gives exact details concerning this relief.

The rate depends first on the rank of those killed. The widow of a private soldier receives yearly an average of 300 marks ($100). The widow of a non-commissioned officer 300 marks ($125) of a sergeant 600 marks ($250).

Each child of a private or non-commissioned officer whose father is killed in the war receives 168 marks ($62) a year on an average, and each child left an orphan receives 240 marks ($80).

In cases where, pursuant to military law, the regular relief of soldiers' families, the regular relief is extended at a reduced rate per child on account of the father's being shot and wounded previously while young or that the limb was gnawed off.

Buck With Three Legs
Made 60 Miles an Hour

CIPFON, Nov. 26.—Having only three legs, a large buck was killed in the Ogechee river swamps, when it was shot down by Henry Fisher. According to the statement of the hunter, he was making about sixty miles per hour when he was felled. It is hard to estimate just what speed he would have made, if the four-footed animal had had all four legs.

The presumption is on the part of those well up on "deontology" that the animal lost its hind leg either through being shot and wounded previously while young or that the limb was gnawed off.

Samuel Given Churchill's Place in the Cabinet

LONDON, Nov. 26.—It is officially announced that Herbert Louis Samuel, at present postmaster general, has been appointed chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, with a seat in the cabinet. This appointment fills the vacancy in the cabinet caused by the resignation of Winston S. Churchill, who has gone to the front.

Department of Justice Seeking New Building

Attorney General Presents Urgent Reasons for Consideration for Headquarters of Legal Branch of Government—No "Lost" in Eight Houses.

Attorney General Gregory wants the Government to make good that Latin inscription chiseled over the portals of the Department of Justice, "nil justitiae sine pace." If the Government is so all-fired determined to "let justice be done, though the heavens fall," as the promiscuous use of that motto around the premises would indicate, Mr. Gregory believes that Congress can give substantial proof of it by making appropriation for a new department of justice building.

He wants Congress to let justice be done to the Department of Justice. Accordingly the Attorney General in his report to Congress, which is now in the hands of the printers, reiterates the request that has been made by all his predecessors since the time of the first Attorney General, that Congress show as much consideration for the headquarters of the legal department as it shows to the district courts in Kankakee, Kokomo, Keokuk, and Kalamazoo by erecting for it a suitable building.

The Attorney General's Plea.
Here are some of the reasons he is prepared to advance:

That the use of four converted residences as offices for the Department of Justice and the consequent housing of legal officials in both rooms, butlers' pantries and servant quarters is not only a disgrace but also a necessity appertaining to the home of the highest judicial branch of the Government.

That the group of buildings now in use are non-fireproof, with no provisions for the safety of judicial records, and that, for the lack of fire-proof vaults, invaluable records are stored in a converted stable.

That judicial records and papers are not only subject to the peril of fire, but that they are the prey of rats that scurvy over the buildings at night, nibbling legal papers and pardon records, and destroying evidence.

room. Mr. Stewart's stenographer occupies the butler's pantry. It is rather embarrassing when a visitor comes to see the pardon attorney, and it is necessary to direct him to the north kitchen, the second floor, and to the bathroom if he wishes to see the pardon attorney's assistant. It is harder still when the visitor is seeking assistant Attorney General Knobel. He must be directed through the bridge of signs, over the stairs, and it is usually necessary to send a messenger along as a guide.

There are clerks in the halls and corridors, offices in the billiard rooms, of-ficial tramp the servants' stairways, and some are quartered below stairs, where once the tongue of gossip wagged. And the effort to transform four dwellings into offices with the few thousands available for the purpose, and connect them into one building has brought about a labyrinthine maze of passageways that no Attorney General have been able to find his way through unaided in the course of a single term.

Department Feels the "Slight."
The Department of Justice feels that it has been slighted. First, it was quartered upstairs in the old Freedmen's Bank building on Pennsylvania avenue, west of the Riggs Bank building. When that building was condemned and subsequently torn down, the department was temporarily housed in its present buildings. That was nearly a quarter of a century ago. At every session of Congress since then there has been a request for a new building appropriation.

Sometimes the Senate passes the Justice building bill and the House pigeonholes it, and sometimes it is the other way. Once Congress bought ground south of the Avenue, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, for a group of buildings, including the Justice Department, but failed to make an appropriation.

But Attorney General Gregory is an optimist, and is going after Congress again. If he succeeds, he will be blessed forever by the nearly 300 civil service employees of the department, and, incidentally, by the newspaper profession, half of whose members have Department of Justice accounts opened up against them because they got lost in the building and didn't find the man they were looking for until after the paper had gone to press.

Lasso Dead Man From Deadly Switchboard

PASSAIC, Nov. 26.—John Ditch, twenty-four years old, was electrocuted yesterday when he started to turn on the electric lights at the switchboard in the plant of the Maxcar Car Company of Athens. The shock left his body standing upright against the board, with one hand clutching the knob of the door. Blue flames coming from his body and the board were seen by other workmen, but they were afraid to touch him.

Finally one man threw a rope over Ditch's head, and with three men pulling on it, they dragged his body from the switchboard. Dr. Armstrong said he had died instantly.

Civil Service to Hold 4
Examinations in January

Four examinations for Government positions paying as high as $2,000 a year have been scheduled by the Civil Service Commission for January.

The first of these will be held January 11 to secure eligibles for appointment as plant inspectors in citrus fruit diseases, Department of Agriculture, at from $2,000 to $3,000 a year. On January 15 an examination will be held for laboratory aid in the Hygienic Laboratory.

Examinations for junior engineers in the Geological Survey and laboratory aid and engineer in the Forest Service will be held January 19.

Sold Water for Whisky.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 26.—Luther K. Jackson was fined $5 for selling a bottle of water. The technical charge against him was "soliciting sales of liquor." He had offered to sell a party a quart of whisky and delivered a quart of water. The purchaser, opening the package after Jackson had left him.

SIX BOYS FLEE FROM ASYLUM IN PAJAMAS

Pursued, Three Escape by Swim
in Hudson—Three Are Made Captive.

HASTINGS, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Six boys escaped from a third-floor dormitory of the New York juvenile asylum near here shortly after midnight by tying blankets together and slipping to earth in the most approved dime-novel fashion. Their only clothes were flannel pajamas.

In this costume they made their way into Hastings and broke into the basement of Morris Rosenbaum's shoe store, where they opened a case and provided themselves with rubber boots. They then slipped forth and met Mike Chrusow, a Russian, who was moved by their appeal to take them to his home and hid them in his old clothes, taking the boots in payment.

From this there was only one way of escape through a 300-foot culvert half filled with water which empties into the Hudson. All six boys waded in, while the keepers took a roundabout route overhead. At the other end three of the boys dived into the river and swam to a nearby dock, up which they climbed and escaped. The other three were captured, the keepers having found them in the culvert.

George Nell, Herbert Mackie and Theodore Abraham, the three captives, were taken before Judge Glavin in the Hastings police court. Nell and Abraham were sent back to the asylum, but Mackie was held for commitment to another institution on the complaint that he was a bit too much for the New York juvenile asylum.

But Attorney General Gregory is an optimist, and is going after Congress again. If he succeeds, he will be blessed forever by the nearly 300 civil service employees of the department, and, incidentally, by the newspaper profession, half of whose members have Department of Justice accounts opened up against them because they got lost in the building and didn't find the man they were looking for until after the paper had gone to press.

Says He Has Been in Every Jail on Coast

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Nov. 26.—William Martin, self-confessed highwayman, who, wearing a mask and armed with a revolver, held up the night dispatcher and night baggage man at the Southern Pacific station Sunday night, laughed outright in court when his bond was placed at $100 in holding him for his preliminary examination.

"Put it at 20 cents, your honor, and it will hold me just as well, for I couldn't give a cent for my bail. I broke good and flat. That's why I wanted the railroad's coat. I'm going to plead guilty in the end and waive all preliminary examinations."

Martin is known by the police from San Diego to Seattle. He said that for the past five years he has traveled back and forth from South to North, living the carefree life of a hobo and only working when he had to.

"I'm the most jaded man in the State. There's not a jail on the coast I don't know about, and I like the jail at Los Angeles best, because they give a fellow canned music as an entertainment and good square meals."

WILL INSPECT NAVAL MILITIA ON SYLVIA

Major Castner to Visit Ship on Practice Cruise Today at Rock Point.

Major Joseph Castner, adjutant general of the District Militia, has arranged to inspect the section of the naval militia on board the U. S. S. Sylvia this afternoon at Rock Point, Md., where the ship will stop today on the four days' practice cruise which started yesterday morning.

The Sylvia anchored last night off St. Catherine's, which was reached yesterday afternoon, all the officers and men being in good shape and enthusiastic over the trip. This evening the Sylvia will go down as far as Corfield Harbor and will work its way back to Washington so as to arrive here Sunday evening. The men will be given boat drills, and it is probable that some target practice will be held, although this was not contemplated in the original plans for the cruise.

Court Holds Marriage To Hush Girl Is Void

NEW CITY, N. Y., Nov. 26.—A decree has just been filed by Supreme Court Justice A. J. Tompkins, of Rockland county, annulling the marriage of Lillian Kochman to Theodore Kochman, of Clarkstown, on the ground that he married her to put an end to a breach of promise suit.

Mrs. Kochman says that she sued him when he broke off their engagement two years ago. Then he renewed his attentions, and they were married. She alleges that he left her after the ceremony, stating he had only married to escape the expense of a trial of her suit and the possible payment of damages.

Wife Would Not Allow Him to Sit in Parlor

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—Israel Grollnick has filed suit to divorce Mrs. Beale Moloski Grollnick. He alleges she was a nagging disposition and would not permit him to enter their home by the front door, hang his hat and coat on the hall tree, sit in the parlor, or eat in the dining room.

He also alleges she would "about and scream at the top of her voice," and that she had a habit of running out of the house and shouting that he had tried.

New Way to Curl Hair
Without Heated Irons

Hair tortured with the curling iron is bound to become dry, harsh, and brittle, as so many know from sad experience. It's far more sensible to use plain liquid alimarine, which can do no harm and which produces the loveliest wavy effect imaginable. It takes so little time to apply the alimarine and the hair can be made to curl in any form, to any extent, to conform with any style of hair-dressing. A few ounces from the drug-gist will last a long time, so it is not at all expensive. Liquid alimarine is not greasy or sticky and
